ABOUT THE GROUP

The Cinema And Members Club In The Power Station is the fourth venue from the people behind The Olympic Studios, The Cinema At Selfridges and The Cinema In The Arches.

Each location retains its own authentic identity, but all offer a warm welcome, a luxurious place to relax and a strong sense of community at the core of its private members clubs and cinemas.

OLYMPIC STUDIOS

The Olympic Studios Cinema, Café & Dining Room and Members Club

Located in Barnes, West London, the venue began life as music hall in 1906, but its legendary status was secured over a century later when it was converted to the 'Olympic Sound Studios'. The Rolling Stones were amongst the first to record at the Olympic with six consecutive albums between 1966 and 1972. Alongside The Rolling Stones some of the biggest names in rock history recorded at the Olympic including The Beatles, The Who, Led Zeppelin, Pink Floyd, Jimi Hendrix, U2, Prince, Madonna and Oasis.

Today the lovingly refurbished venue is the beating heart of the community with a vibrant Cinema, Café & Dining Room, Members Bar and Restaurant. It has its own record shop Olympic Records located opposite; specialising in vintage and new vinyl. The Olympic Studios popularity is such that there has been a waiting list for its members club since opening.

IN THE ARCHES

The Cinema In The Power Station will be our second cinema in the neighbourhood.

Nestled close to the Power Station, The Cinema In The Arches is an intimate cinema with three bespoke screens built into the railway arches in Circus West, Battersea. Respectful of its environment, the three screens all have their own separate entrances, maintaining the integrity of the original arches. State-of-the-art Dolby Atmos 3D surround sound and laser projection delivers crystal clear picture quality whilst substantial sound proofing eliminates the sound of the trains above. Inside, luxurious reclining seats are accompanied by individual brass tables perfectly designed to fit a bottle of wine or cocktail, home-made popcorn and sweet treats.

You may have seen The Cinema In The Arches stretch its legs and head outdoors this summer with its incredibly popular outdoor screenings.

Battersea Power Station provides the backdrop for silver screen classics in Summer Showtime which started July 2022.

With a cocktail lounge, bar and its own unique entrance on Duke Street (the cinema is open outside of the store's opening hours)

The Cinema At Selfridges is the ideal place to combine an indulgent shopping trip with a night at the movies.
